

Equipment list for archery elk hunts

1. headlamp-flashlight with extra batteries
2. 2 pairs of shoes: 1 gore-tex or water resistant over ankle hunting boot well broken in, 1 pair
3. lighter shoes such as running shoes in case of blisters or sore feet
4. camp slippers, sandals
5. good socks (I like cabelas outfitter socks)
6. sleeping bag rated to 0 degrees or colder
7. a few pairs of medium warm gloves, one set water-proof
8. rain gear (preferably gore-tex or other breathable fabric)
9. wind-proof fleece or sweater (cabelas sell a few different fleece and wool coats that work very well)
10. camo clothing like predator pattern green for early September, browns and grays always are good
11. long underwear
12. warm wind-shear hat
13. light hat
14. scent-lok if you have it
15. rubber boots or elimitrax over boots if you have them (not required)
16. light pack
17. spare broad heads and arrows of course, preferably a fixed blade arrowhead
18. knife
19. waterproof or gore-tex gaiters, good for mornings with heavy dew or light rain days in tall grass
20. all tags from State of Montana and an old license from your state proving you have bowhunted before if that isn't taken care of during the second part of your application with the June 1 deadline
21. any calls if you would like to try some calling (cow calls work well for extra background calls)
22. lighter
23. the usual personal shaving kit with a scent free deodorant
24. bird arrows, judo point, or broadheads you don't mind smashing up shooting at grouse
25. Spare release or shooting glove in pack
26. Spare batteries for rangefinder if you use one
27. Field glasses
28. Camera for kill photo of massive elk (I carry a digital camera as well as most of the other guides)

We provide or have in camp

cots with pads
broadhead bow target towels, scent free soap, and shampoo, with hot showers snack bars for daypack, bottled water with all other types of beverages
